Business or Organizational Risks
1.	As a rural state with low population density, Oregon may not receive the attention that other states may when vying for the limited implementation grants for initial consultation and coverage needs in the subsequent deployment.	Remain active at the federal level during FirstNet launch and participate in planning activities by key agencies such as the FCC, DHS, and NTIA. Work on a regional basis to create a larger, more visible constituent base, such as with Washington state, Idaho, and Utah to represent the Northwest. Or, via the Western Governors Association (WGA) or other affinity group, such as FEMA or DHS RPS Region 10, which includes Oregon, Washington, Idaho, and Alaska.
